HAND CORN, BEAN AND BEET SEED

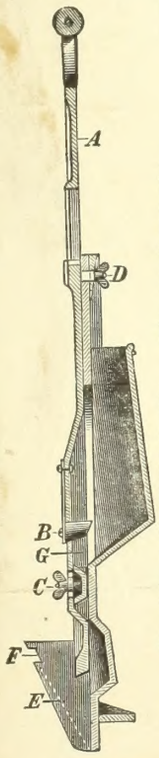
PLANTER,

With Automatic Cut-Off.

The simplest and best in the world. Received the first premium at the Vermont and New Jersey State Fairs in 1884. Awarded a diploma for highest merit in Hand Planters by the Vermont State Fair, 1885. Highest award at Bay State Fair, 1886.

Patented Oct. 24, 1882, May 15, 1883. In Canada, Oct. 16, 1883.

It has No Superior in the World.



WITH PROPER CARE IT WILL LAST A LIFE-TIME.

One of the most important things in corn culture is the manner in which the corn is planted. J. C. Dillon, of Amherst, Mass., for six years Superintendent of the Agricultural Farm of Massachusetts, says: "I have paid much attention to the subject of planting, and have had a good deal of experience with hand and horse planters of all kinds, from the hoe and dipper to the costly and elaborate machinery imported by the agricultural college from Germany, and I have no hesitation in saying that I would rather have this planter than any I have seen. It puts the corn exactly where I want it; I can see that it does its work every time, and in eight acres planted with it this last season I did not have a missing hill."

E. O. GLEASON, Putnam, Conn., writes us under date Jan. 6th, 1886: "I used my planter for most every thing; planting beet seed, beans, corn, broom corn, pumpkin and melon seeds; and in every instance met with the very best success; my corn has never come more evenly nor as early; I raised the best corn I have had for several years; had over 400 bushels on a little over three acres. I spread and harrowed in the manure, marked out the ground, then planted the corn with the planter, after which I dropped the phosphate in the depression made by the planter and then went over the whole field with a heavy bush drawn by oxen; there was but one hill that failed to come up in the whole three acres, and that proved to have a flat stone under it. I began planting about 10 in the morning and at 4 P. M. it was done." Mr. Gleason further says in his letter, "I would not take one hundred dollars for my planter if I could not replace it."

RETAIL PRICE, $3.50.
